Yes! The Library is Open!

Updates to library services will continue to be posted on the Libraries COVID-19 Information Guide. We are reviewing the current practices and expect to increase access to our study spaces shortly after Easter.

Help is a Click Away!

It’s crunch time. Papers and projects will soon be due. Perhaps you need help with researching your topic, formatting a citation, or verifying a fact, and you just want to speak with someone in the library. Do not despair. During the pandemic, we created Quick Live Help! on Zoom. https://librariess.catholick.edu/research-help/quick-live-help.html

SearchBox: Handy Tips

SearchBox, for locating books, articles, journals, a-v, microforms, dissertations + theses in our collections, is a powerful tool, but it can also be a challenge to use. We feel your pain! Check out some quick, 2-3 minute videos we created that show how to limit your search to what you can access immediately, how to request a book or article, and how to search for theses and dissertations.

Need a Quiet Study Space?

 Reserve your space in the library! We are keeping study spaces clean and socially distant for everyone’s safety.
