

Mullen It Over

Summer Session at Mullen Library

Volume 7, Issue 7 • May 2022

Whether you will be reading by the pool or staying close to campus, the library will remain open and accessible during the summer session.

Recreational Reading

Relax a bit this summer and take this time to read a fun book. Our Popular Reading shelf houses genres ranging from commentary, fiction, historical fiction, mystery, suspense, non-fiction, current affairs, social issues, and more. The collection is located in the Reference Reading Room on the first floor of Mullen. Check it out, literally!

Study Space

The library offers a variety of silent and group study spaces. All spaces are available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Talking and group study is permitted on the first and second floors. The third floor is silent study only. Each floor has computers and printers available for CUA-affiliated patrons to use.

Research Guides

Have you heard about our online research guides?

These guides are compiled by our Subject Librarians, and contain research assistance, subject introductions, and additional resources for you to reference when researching a field. The research guides cover a range of academic fields, special collections of the library, and other specialty areas of interest.

Introduction to LinkedIn Learning!

LinkedIn Learning is an online video training library that provides in demand skill training. Courses are taught by expert instructors and cover a wide range of topics.

Students and faculty can access LinkedIn Learning with their Cardinal login. Please contact lib-research@cu.edu with questions or for access assistance.
